The Storyline

You have been summoned to an office. On arrival you discover you have been locked in! alone and confused!, you realise you are being framed for an elaborate Art Heist, while the true culprit walks free. The police are on their way so you need to escape before they get here.

The AIM of the game is to ESCAPE the office within the given time frame and earn as many POINTS as possible while doing so.

How It Works

Despite it's popularity, some corporate brands have questioned how these technologies can help them meet their objectives. While there's no doubt virtual reality game can be fun, we think there's also scope for them to add value to events and boost engagement.

The Escape Challenge is a problem-solving team building activity for groups of any-size. Based on the popular escape room challenges it involves an hour long collection of virtual tasks, where teams have the chance to solve puzzles, tackle questions and answer riddles. Starting in a 'locked office, team are required to work through these tasks, which are all displayed on interactive games screens, earning points as they go, on a mission to 'escape' within the 60 minute time limit. As well as being good fun, the challenge encourages team building and group engagement.
